Course Description:

The goal for this course is to teach officers how to effectively operate and instruct others in the operation of a RDS equipped handgun. You will learn how to identify, correct and “troubleshoot” others. This is not a shoot tiny groups or “standards” class. This is not a class where you show up, shoot for a couple days and walk away with an “Instructor Certification.” We will push the limits and find where you can truly operate the handgun. You will push to failure and by doing so learn where common failures occur, identify their causes, spot them in other shooters and learn when and how to correct them in your personal training as well as in students you instruct. Strong emphasis will be placed on the handful of foundational things necessary to put bullets where you want them with a high degree of speed and accuracy. This class is not for those looking for style points or to impress people on social media. There will be structured and graded teach backs which will include demos. If you are serious about your RDS program at your agency or are working to approve RDS equipped pistols at your agency then this class is for you
