Course Description:

Train the Next Generation of Texas Peace Officers

TCOLE Hours: 40 (reported through TTPOA)

VanPelt Consulting is proud to offer the TCOLE Instructor Certification Course, designed for experienced peace officers and professionals ready to step into a leadership role through instruction. This course meets Texas Commission on Law Enforcement (TCOLE) requirements and provides the foundation needed to effectively teach, mentor, and shape today's law enforcement professionals.

This is not your average, cheap, basic instructor course. There is a lot of hands-on work. This course covers everything in the legislative mandate established by TCOLE Rule 221.27, per Chapter 1701 of the Texas Occupations Code, but exceeds the basic requirements by providing actual case law on direct and vicarious liability, introduces instructional design principles for creating training that is defensible and follows established methods and processes, classroom command for creating and maintaining professional learning environments, and differentiates between learning theories and learning myths.

Our program goes beyond checking a box. We focus on professionalism, adult learning principles, and real-world instruction techniques that prepare you to deliver training that actually sticks—on the street, in the classroom, and during critical incidents.

Course Overview

This course is designed to prepare participants to:

?Understand the role and responsibility of a TCOLE instructor

?Develop clear, legally defensible lesson plans

?Apply adult learning concepts to law enforcement training

?Deliver effective classroom and skills-based instruction

?Demonstrate professionalism and leadership as a trainer

Upon successful completion, participants will meet the requirements to apply for TCOLE Instructor certification.
Students will be expected to complete a written exam, 2 timed powerpoints with lesson plans and be ready for impromptu presentations with little time toprepare.
