Course Description:

• Mobile Threat Interdiction (Vehicle CQB)

This two-day Mobile Threat Interdiction course is built from the ground up for law enforcement professionals who must confront threats in and around vehicles. Whether responding to high-risk stops, felony apprehensions, warrant service, or ambushes, your ability to fight, control suspects, and survive inside and around a vehicle is mission-critical.

This course blends firearms, tactics, and close-quarters combatives into one comprehensive program designed to sharpen your survivability under real-world stress. You'll learn to fight from inside a vehicle, transition effectively between weapons, use vehicles as concealment, and prevail under extreme violence of action.

Students will also learn Vehicle Combatives, focusing on how to grapple, control, and defend inside the confined space of a vehicle. Using seat belts, door frames, and natural vehicle hardpoints, you will be trained to counter edged weapon threats, maintain firearm retention, and gain the advantage during violent close-contact encounters.

Key Takeaways:

Core Skills:

- Advanced shooting positions and movement around vehicles
- Fighting and shooting from inside the vehicle
- Effective use of vehicles as cover and concealment
- Transitioning between handgun and rifle in confined spaces
- Ballistic considerations when shooting through glass and vehicle structures
- Grappling and weapon control inside the vehicle
- Using vehicle structures (seat belts, door frames) to gain control over suspects
- Retention and counter-retention techniques against edged and firearm threats

Live-Fire Exercises:

- Engaging threats through windshields and side windows
- High-stress live-fire drills replicating real-world vehicle attacks
- Immediate action drills to counter surprise ambushes

Full-Mission Profiles:

- Realistic call-out simulations based on vehicle-centric operations
- Felony stop, ambush response, and mobile active shooter scenarios
- Team-based and solo interdiction under compressed timelines and chaotic conditions
